APRU Undergraduate Leaders' Programme 2023
Leadership for Sustainable Cities Development
at The Chinese University of Hong Kong

25 JUNE–6 JULY 2023

Dear colleagues of APRU member institutions,

With a strong commitment to promoting sustainability, The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) will be hosting the Association of Pacific Rim Universities (APRU) Undergraduate Leaders' Programme (ULP) in person this summer.

With the theme 'Leadership for Sustainable Cities Development', ULP 2023 will bring together undergraduate students from APRU member universities and empower them to become changemakers in pursuit of building sustainable, safe, resilient, and inclusive cities in response to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

Students joining APRU ULP 2023 will explore innovative and human-centred solutions to complex sustainability issues using case studies from Hong Kong and worldwide. They will also develop a global vision for solving urban and sustainability challenges through interactions with expert speakers and fellow students across the Pacific Rim.

APRU ULP 2023 aims to foster a close-knit and diverse cohort of 60 undergraduate leaders from APRU member universities. We shall be most grateful if you can kindly pass on the information of the ULP to the responsible office at your university and invite students to join the programme. Each APRU member university may nominate up to five students for the ULP. We also invite your university to consider sponsoring the programme fee of US$550 and/or travel expenses.

We look forward to welcoming your students to CUHK!

Best Regards,
Office of Academic Links
The Chinese University of Hong Kong
